KINGSTON VOTES ON BOND ISSUE

Following the passage by the council of Kingston, last week, of a resolution for the submission to the voters of that village at the November election of a $48,000 bond issue for a new and complete water works system, the resolution has been filed with Ross-co Auditor Schlegel for certification to the Board of Elections.

The water and sanitation issue has been a long standing one at Kingston and the insubstantial conditions prevailing there have been regarded as a fire menace, as well as a menace to health.

INFANT CHILD DIES

United States of Europe Nearer As League of Nations Hears Proposal

Delegates Ask For Outline of International Economic Empire Idea.

GENEVA, Sept. 10.—(INS.)—The United States of Europe—Premier Aristide Briand's long-cherished dream of an international economic and political affiliation of continental nations—was one step nearer reality today.

The French premier, who expounded his revolutionary views on the creation of an international economic empire before the delegates to the League of Nations assembly yesterday, is understood to have already begun work on the drafting of an outline of his plan to weld Europe into an economic unit.

When the outline has been completed, Premier Briand will submit it to the various delegates, who in turn will request their various governments to take the proposition under consideration.

With assurances from the French premier that the plan will not involve steps either anti-American or anti-Soviet, M. Briand's carefully thought out scheme was given a magnificent send-off when the League delegates gave him the necessary authorization to draw up an outline for their official consideration.

Creation of the Pan-American confederation is hardly a matter of weeks, however, for when the outline has been considered by the delegates, at least a year will elapse before the matter can be given further consideration by the League.

GERMANY INCLUDED

When the various powers have set forth their views on the plan, M. Briand is to draw up a formal report, which then will be discussed at a meeting of the representatives of the governments to be held in Geneva some time next year. By that time, M. Briand is hopeful that his plan will be well on the way to fruition.

Following outspoken statements by Herr Gustave Stresemann, German foreign minister, that the project could be considered by Germany only if it were purely economic and harbored no anti-American or anti-Russian sentiments, Premier Briand made it plain that the plan was directed against no individual country of the world.

HARRIS RITES HELD MONDAY

Native of Circleville, Who Died At Cincinnati, Buried At Forest.

Funeral services for George Harris former resident of Circleville, were conducted Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Miller of S. Washington-st. by the Rev. C. W. Ruhlman of the Calvary Evangelical church. Mr. Harris, who was born in this city left Circleville about 15 years ago. Death on Sunday was due to cancer of the lung, after a prolonged illness in a Cincinnati hospital.

Mr. Harris was born May 9, 1877, and was the son of Henry and Lena Bowman Harris. In addition to his wife he is survived by his sister Mrs. John Miller of Circleville; a brother Ed Harris, of Ashville; and another sister, Mrs. Fanny Block of Syracuse, Kansas. These were included in the large group of friends and relatives from Columbus and Cincinnati who attended the funeral.

Interment in Forest cemetery was in charge of the Albaugh Undertaking Co.

ANOTHER BREAK IN SUNDAY'S FAMILY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—The family life of another branch of the family of Billy Sunday famed evangelist, has gone on the rocks, it was revealed here today with the news that the George Sundays have separated.

George Sunday, eldest son of the evangelist, and his wife, Harriett, who have been married for 15 years are being apart. It has been admitted by the wife. Last week Mrs. Billy Sunday, Jr. filed suit against the preacher's son for divorce.

Specialists Deny Smoking Mothers Lose Their Babies

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—Prominent obstetric specialists here today were raising their voices in a chorus of protest and indignant denial of charges that smoking mothers lose forty per cent of their children in infancy. The row was precipitated when Rev. J. R. Hartman, of Conshohocken, demanded a nationwide campaign against smoking mothers, at the opening session of the Methodist Episcopal preachers meeting here. Rev. Hartman quoted statistics of Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, to support his request that the meeting initiate such a campaign.

"Nearly all young mothers of today smoke cigarettes, yet there is no increase in the infant mortality rate," Dr. C. M. Spangler, head of the obstetrical department of Jefferson hospital said today. "In fact there are fewer infant deaths than among babies born to non-smoking mothers of a generation ago."

Rev. Hartman, chairman of the Methodist's committee on morals and legislative reform, scorched the smoking mothers in an informal report.

"Forty per cent of babies born to mothers who smoke die, it has been determined," Dr. Hartman said, "I know how delicate the question is, and how many will rise up and call you fanatic for raising the question, but if you are interested in a scientific statement of fact, you should get Senator Reed Smoot's speech."

Other obstetricians pointed out that while it may be true the infant mortality rate has been lowered in recent years, the rate might have been even less if mothers did not smoke. Most of the credit for a lower rate lies in improved obstetric methods, they indicated.

WIVES GUESTS OF KIWANIS

Charles Radcliffe Elected Vice President At Williamsport Meeting.

Williamsport members of the Circleville Kiwanis club were responsible for the delightful meeting of that organization Monday night in the Williamsport community hall. It was the second meeting of the organization at which the wives and a number of other guests were present. Including these, were more than 50 who enjoyed the chicken dinner of bountiful servings.

Tom Renick, president of the Kiwanis club called the meeting to order, and after the singing of "America," all business was forgotten while the chicken dinner was served.

After the last course, Attorney Renick introduced C. P. Hunsicker of Williamsport, who was chairman of the program committee. After a few words of welcome, he presented the Rev. Clarence Swearingen, who was then a speaker. His subject dealt with "The Value of the Work of the Kiwanis Club."

After Rev. Swearingen's address, Mrs. J. H. Dunlap sang two solos: "I Pass by Your Window," and "Dun," and later Mrs. Byron Carmean sang "Gypsy Love Song" and "Sweet Mystery of Life."

A part of the business meeting was the election of a vice-president. Charles Radcliffe, of Williamsport and Prosecuting Attorney Emmitt Crist were the two nominees. The election resulted in a tie. A flip of a coin gave the office to Mr. Radcliffe.

A few remarks were made by three guests from Columbus, Matt Workman, Ed Abbot and Harry Miller. Rev. Benjamin C. DeCamp of Circleville added a few words to the program. President Renick explained the progress he had made with the boy scout organization in Circleville. The Columbus guests said they had attended a great many meetings in small towns but that this one had surpassed all.

VARE CASE IS INJECTED INTO TARIFF FIGHT

Democrats and Insurgents Force Republicans on Defensive In Senate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(I.N.S.)—At the very outset of the tariff wars the Republicans were on the defensive in the senate today against a shrewdly directed Democratic-Insurgent campaign, which injected the three-year-old Vare case and an income tax publicity row into the debate over the new tariff bill.

The question of denying his senatorial seat to William S. Vare (R) of Pennsylvania, was raised by Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, with the acquiescence of Democratic tariff chieftains. Norris sponsored a resolution barring Vare from the senate because of a $785,000 expenditure in his 1926 primary and announced he would seek final action on it later in the week. Debate on the resolution may run for several weeks.

AID TO DEMOCRATS

The income tax publicity row was provoked by the Democrats and it gave the two opposing tariff a chance to draw up their battle lines. The proposal to publish the "profits or losses" of all corporations, benefitting under the tariff, may be debated for several days before a decision is reached. An amendment by Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin, would call for publication of the amounts spent by various corporations on "labor costs"—an extension of the publicity that met with decided Republican opposition. The whole plan incidentally served to delay a start in the debate on the bill itself.

The two maneuvers were denounced by administration leaders as "efforts to kill time" and interpreted as indicating a Democratic-insurgent filibuster against the tariff. Administration spokesmen were aroused particularly by the injection of the Vare case into the tariff debate.

MONTH FOR VARE CASE

"It will take a month to dispose of the Vare case unless there is an agreement limiting debate," said Senator Watson (R) of Indiana. Majority leader. "I hope to get such an agreement."

"The question of Vare's right to a seat is of the highest privilege. It cannot be sidetracked and yet it has no place in a tariff debate. We have waited this long to dispose of the case and it seems to me, we might have waited until the regular session, or at least until Vare himself demanded a decision."

"Bringing the case up at this time," added Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, "is unfair to Senator Vare. I see nothing in this move but a filibuster against the tariff."

Will the "Uncrowned King" Bring Peace to Palestine?

The Mystery Man of Arabia May Again Leave on a Secret Mission to Maintain British Prestige in Near East

Colonel T. E. Lawrence, famed author and "Uncrowned King of the Arabian Desert," who, it is believed, could bring the Arab-Jewish controversy to a quick settlement.

Well-informed students of international affairs are wondering how long it will be before Great Britain again calls on Colonel T. E. Lawrence to embark on a mission among the Arab tribes in the Near East.

With a view toward effecting a speedy peace between the Arabs and Jews in Palestine and averting a Holy War throughout the domains of the "true believers," Lawrence's presence in the war zone should prove valuable.

In the opinion of many, machine guns and bombs are not the weapons to bring the present uprising to a speedy conclusion. Inexorable as the Arab attack on the Jews of Palestine may have been, there is no question that the underlying problem is greater than the mere punishment of the raiders or the majesty of the British government enforced by troops through a warfare hardship and long duration. Soldiers are undoubtedly necessary at the present time, but an understanding of permanence is even more essential.

Lawrence knows his Arabs. He knows the country in which they live, their loves, their hates and their religious fanaticism. He holds their respect, and what is far more important, their trust. The problem has become one of wide importance, not only to England, but to all Christianity as well. Stern methods employed from a military standpoint may stop the advances of the desert tribesmen in the present crisis, but too severe reprisals may bring about a Holy War, that will disrupt the peace of the world and cause a general uprising of all the believers of Allah.

Why, then, would it not be good politics as well as common sense to intrust the task of a peaceful settlement to one who intimately understands all phases of the workings of the Moslem mind and avert continued hostilities that mean years of bloodshed and suffering?

HARD BATTLES BEING FOUGHT IN MANCHURIA

Well Equipped Chinese Soldiers Gathered To Repulse Soviet Attacks.

(By JOHN GOETTE)
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)
HARBIN, MANCHURIA, Sept. 10.—Two Soviet and Chinese armies, totalling about 40,000 men, each equipped for field service and drawn up in battle array, face each other in the Pogranichnaya (Suifenho) region today.

This area has been the scene of violent fighting in the past 72 hours, the Soviet forces having bombarded Pogranichnaya with artillery during intermittent fighting between infantry.

The Chinese troops in that zone are estimated at 20,000 and the Soviets are believed to have an equal number.

CIVILIANS LEAVE AREA

Only 1,000 civilian residents remain in Pogranichnaya because of the continued dangers from fighting between land and air forces.

The International News Service staff correspondent arrived in Harbin today after a visit to the Pogranichnaya sector where he visited the Chinese front lines just before the battle began on Saturday.

The Chinese defensive trenches, dugouts and machine gun positions are excellently constructed after the manner of such military works in France during the World War. They are manned by obviously determined troops.

RAILS TORN UP

The Chinese have torn up the rails beyond the third tunnel to prevent the movement of Russian armored trains.

The First Mukden army, numbering about 30,000 men, picked force of Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, military governor of Manchuria and son of the late Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, is stationed about 100 miles east of Harbin.

The Chinese troops on the eastern frontier are in a belated mood as the result of numerous stories of Russian ill treatment of Chinese subjects. The authorities circulated reports of Soviet cruelty upon the Chinese.

ASK DAMAGES AFTER CRASH

Columbus Girls Sue Adelphi Driver For $25,000 After Crash Near Here.

As a result of an automobile collision five miles southeast of Circleville on the Adelphi pike on August 19, two suits for damages have been filed in the Franklin-co common pleas court against George Shields, of Adelphi, yard conductor for the Big Four railroad.

The suits were filed by Elsie Jacoby and Ethel Steinhart, both of Columbus, who ask $15,000 and $10,000 respectively for injuries they suffered in the crash.

At the time of the accident, Shields was arrested by Sheriff Frank Davis and Deputy Sheriff Carl Porter on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was fined $150 and costs by Probate Judge E. A. Brown who also deprived him of his driving rights for six months.

Democrats and Insurgents Force Republicans on Defensive In Senate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(I.N.S.)—At the very outset of the tariff wars, the Republicans were on the defensive in the senate today against a shrewdly directed Democratic-Insurgent campaign, which injected the three-year-old Vare case and an income tax publicity row into the debate over the new tariff bill.

The question of denying his senatorial seat to William S. Vare (R) of Pennsylvania, was raised by Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, with the acquiescence of Democratic tariff chieftains. Norris sponsored a resolution barring Vare from the senate because of a $785,000 expenditure in his 1926 primary and announced he would seek final action on it later in the week. Debate on the resolution may run for several weeks.

AID TO DEMOCRATS
The income tax publicity row was provoked by the Democrats and it gave the two opposing tariff a chance to draw up their battle lines. The proposal to publish the "profits or losses" of all corporations, benefitting under the tariff, may be debated for several days before a decision is reached. An amendment by Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin, would call for publication of the amounts spent by various corporations on "labor costs"—an extension of the publicity that met with decided Republican opposition. The whole plan incidentally served to delay a start in the debate on the bill itself.

The two maneuvers were denounced by administration leaders as "efforts to kill time" and interpreted as indicating a Democratic insurgent filibuster against the tariff. Administration spokesmen were aroused particularly by the injection of the Vare case into the tariff debate.

MONTH FOR VARE CASE
"It will take a month to dispose of the Vare case unless there is an agreement limiting debate," said Senator Watson (R) of Indiana. Majority leader, "I hope to get such an agreement."

"The question of Vare's right to a seat is of the highest privilege. It cannot be sidetracked and yet it has no place in a tariff debate. We have waited this long to dispose of the case and it seems to me, we might have waited until the regular session, or at least until Vare himself demanded a decision."

"Bringing the case up at this time," added Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, "is unfair to Senator Vare. I see nothing in this move but a filibuster against the tariff."

Will the "Uncrowned King" Bring Peace to Palestine?

The Mystery Man of Arabia May Again Leave on a Secret Mission to Maintain British Prestige in Near East

Colonel T. E. Lawrence, famed author and "Uncrowned King of the Arabian Desert," who, it is believed, could bring the Arab-Jewish controversy to a quick settlement.

Well-informed students of international affairs are wondering how long it will be before Great Britain again calls on Colonel T. E. Lawrence to embark on a mission among the Arab tribes in the Near East.

With a view toward effecting a speedy peace between the Arabs and Jews in Palestine and averting a Holy War throughout the domains of the "true believers," Lawrence's presence in the war zone should prove valuable.

In the opinion of many, machine guns and bombs are not the weapons to bring the present uprising to a speedy conclusion. Inexcusable as the Arab attack on the Jews of Palestine may have been, there is no question that the underlying problem is greater than the mere punishment of the raiders or the majesty of the British government enforced by troops through a warfare hardship and long duration. Soldiers are undoubtedly necessary at the present time, but an understanding of permanence is even more essential.

Lawrence knows his Arabs. He knows the country in which they live, their loves, their hates and their religious fanaticism. He holds their respect, and what is far more important, their trust.

The problem has become one of wide importance, not only to England, but to all Christianity as well. Stern methods employed from a military standpoint may stop the advances of the desert tribesmen in the present crisis, but too severe reprisals may bring about a Holy War, that will disrupt the peace of the world and cause a general uprising of all the believers of Allah.

Why, then would it not be good politics as well as common sense to intrust the task of a peaceful settlement to one who intimately understands all phases of the workings of the Moslem mind and avert continued hostilities that mean years of bloodshed and suffering?

WRECK VICTIM IS NEAR DEATH

The condition of John Wheeler, Columbus detective, who was injured when his auto collided with a Charleston bus near the Mackey Ford road Sunday evening, was reported as critical Tuesday at Mercy hospital, Columbus.

He underwent an operation for internal injuries suffered in addition to a fractured shoulder. His wife, Mrs. Grace Wheeler, is also in the hospital suffering from a broken arm and severe cuts about her face and body.

HARD BATTLES BEING FOUGHT IN MANCHURIA

Well Equipped Chinese Soldiers Gathered To Repulse Soviet Attacks.

(By JOHN GOETTE)
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

HARBIN, MANCHURIA, Sept. 10.—Two Soviet and Chinese armies, totalling about 40,000 men, each equipped for field service and drawn up in battle array, face each other in the Pogranichnaya (Suifenho) region today.

This area has been the scene of violent fighting in the past 72 hours, the Soviet forces having bombarded Pogranichnaya with artillery during intermittent fighting between infantry.

The Chinese troops in that zone are estimated at 20,000 and the Soviets are believed to have an equal number.

CIVILIANS LEAVE AREA

Only 1,000 civilian residents remain in Pogranichnaya because of the continued dangers from fighting between land and air forces.

The International News Service staff correspondent arrived in Harbin today after a visit to the Pogranichnaya sector where he visited the Chinese front lines just before the battle began on Saturday.

The Chinese defensive trenches, dugouts and machine gun positions are excellently constructed after the manner of such military works in France during the World War. They are manned by obviously determined troops.

RAILS TORN UP

The Chinese have torn up the rails beyond the third tunnel to prevent the movement of Russian armored trains.

The First Mukden army corps, numbering about 30,000 men, the picked force of Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, military governor of Manchuria and son of the late Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, is stationed about 100 miles east of Harbin.

The Chinese troops on the eastern frontier are in a bellicose mood as the result of numerous stories of Russian ill treatment of Chinese subjects. The authorities circulated reports of Soviet cruelty upon the Chinese.

ASK DAMAGES AFTER CRASH

Columbus Girls Sue Adelphi Driver For $25,000 After Crash Near Here.

As a result of an automobile collision five miles southeast of Circleville on the Adelphi pike on August 19, two suits for damages have been filed in the Franklin-co common pleas court against George Shields, of Adelphi, yard conductor for the Big Four railroad.

The suits were filed by Blanche Jacoby and Ethel Steinhour, both of Columbus, who ask $15,000 and $10,000 respectively for injuries they suffered in the crash.

At the time of the accident, Shields was arrested by Sheriff Frank Davis and Deputy Sheriff Carl Porter on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was fined $150 and costs by Probate Judge E. A. Brown who also deprived him of his driving rights for six months.

GRID SEASON UNDERWAY AT OHIO SCHOOLS

Twenty-eight Colleges in State Practice On Barred Fields.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10.—The thud of bouncing footballs was again heard around the Buckeye state today as foot met pigskin on 28 Ohio college gridirons.

Teams of these score and eight institutions swung into action in earnest to give Ohio's football fandom the thrill which only a first practice session can give. This thrill is followed only by the starting whistles as these same eleven assemble on the field to battle their new and ancient foes.

Prospective members of teams in the Buckeye Athletic Association, Ohio Conference and Northwest Conference gathered at their home camps yesterday to prepare for the first practice.

Ohio State, the largest of Ohio universities, starts its early training next Monday, with Sam Williams, its new head coach, at the helm. More than a half-dozen unaffiliated colleges will begin their grid training within the next week.

BIG SIX IS ACTIVE
Among the smaller schools, the spotlight is turned upon the "big six." Ohio Wesleyan, Wittenberg, Miami, Denison, Cincinnati and Ohio. Some excellent football was played in this conference last year, and the rivalry is keen. Coach George Gauthier of Wesleyan has assembled a coaching staff of nine men in an effort to win a clean-cut title this year. The Bishops shared honors with Wittenberg last year.

William T. Stobbs, Wittenberg's new megator and Coach Chester Pitts at Miami each expect 60 candidates to report before the close of the first week's practice. Coach Don Peden at Ohio, has 14 lettermen who hope to dedicate the new $185,000 stadium of the Bobcats with a win. Denison and Cincinnati, the other members of the big six aim to finish higher than they did last year.

CHAMPS PLAN REPEAT
In the Ohio conference, Heidelberg and Muskingum appear as the leaders. Heidelberg, under the coaching of Herman Sawyer, was undefeated last year and had only one tie. Coach Bill Lange and his Muskies are concentrating on building up a new line for their 1929 campaign. Muskingum does not begin its practice until next week.

Boiling Green, Champions of the Northwest Conference last year, will attempt another lease on the title. They were tied twice by non-Conference teams in 1928.

Coach "Bud" Wilson and his Defiance College "Yellow Jackets" are out to take the flag which they so narrowly lost last year. A veteran squad has reported for the first practice session.

SEASON OPENS SEPT. 21
The season opens Sept. 21, with three Buckeye teams scheduled to

Banff to Celebrate Seven Centuries of Scottish Song

From its mountain setting in the heart of the Canadian Rockies the town of Banff has just sounded the call for its third annual Highland Gathering and Scottish Music Festival. Scheduled to last from August 30 through September 2, with headquarters at the Banff Springs Hotel, the occasion will show anew how seven centuries of Scottish song have survived in the keeping of the Scots who have largely peopled the Canadian west.

Arranged as before by the Canadian Pacific Railway under the patronage of the Prince of Wales, the Festival promises to convert Banff for four days into a miniature Scotland. Every crack Highland regiment in the Dominion has entered its best pipers to compete in the piping contests for the E. W. Beatty Trophy. Lads and lassies from six to sixty will show how the reel and the sword dance should be danced and how the highland fling should be flung. In addition to traditional Caledonian games like putting the stone and throwing the caber, Canada's Amateur Track and Field Championships on September 2 (Labor Day) have been made part of the Festival.

Harold Eustace Key, music director for the Canadian Pacific, has arranged a series of concerts of Scottish music, starting with the ballads of the 13th century and continuing through the periods of Mary Queen of Scots, the Stuarts and the Jacobites, followed by selections from the songs of Burns, Sir Walter Scott, Lady Nairne, Christopher North and the Hebridean music recently made popular by Marjory Kennedy-Fraser. Other features are "Flora and Prince Charlie," a ballad opera by Dr. Hesley Willan, and a Gaelic folk play by Hebrideans from Vancouver.

Besides notable Canadian artists like Finlay Campbell, Catherine Wright and Frances James, Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser herself has been brought over from Scotland to sing several groups of her Hebridean songs. She has achieved world fame as rediscoverer, editor and singer of the long neglected songs of the Scottish Isles. This music, preserved in its original character by the simple crofters of the sequestered isles, has been widely accepted as the truest measure of the Gaelic soul.

Black Ox Always the Symbol of Misfortune
The black ox symbolizes old age, ill luck, adversity, or trouble in general, according to an article in the Pathfinder Magazine. "The black ox has trod on his foot," is a proverbial expression recorded already in 1476 by John Heywood. It means that one knows the meaning of sorrow and misfortune, such as having been visited by death.

The phrase alludes to the black cattle sacrificed by the ancient pagans to the infernal deities, especially to Pluto, supreme judge and lord of the underworld. White cattle were sacrificed to Jupiter.

At Rome the altar on which the black oxen were sacrificed was 20 feet below the level of the ground and was never exposed to public view except when the sacrifices were being made. Among the Arabs, the black camel is the symbol of murder and death by violence.

TIGERS FACING HARD CONTEST

C. H. S. Will Have Hard Assignment In Game With Marysville Team.

When the Circleville Tigers tie up with Marysville on Sept. 20, they will have no easy encounter. In all, the Marysville team has won 25 out of 28 football games in the past three seasons.

Marysville has gained a record that is not to be equaled by many schools, having been beaten but three times in three seasons.

Coach Kingsmore's gridirers lost one game in 1926, dropping a 6 to 0 decision to Bellefontaine; won every game in 1927, scoring 351 points to their opponents' 26. Teams played were, Delaware, Forest, St. Charles of Columbus, Nelsonville, Kingscreek, London, Bellefontaine, Hartford, Richmond and Fostoria.

Then record last year was Marysville, 6; Delaware, 0. Marysville, 58; Kenton, 0. Marysville, 6; Gallion, 18. Marysville, 13, Urbana, 39. Marysville, 28, Bellefontaine, 6. Marysville, 60; Ashley, 0. Marysville, 25, Dayton Oakwood, 0.

Marysville, 27; Wapakoneta, 14. Marysville, 34; London, 0. Marysville made 287; opponents, 77.

Shades of Leander

Famed for his heavy cross tides and treacherous currents, the Hellespont defied swimmers up to the time of the mythical Leander of Greece. Then came Lord Byron and later Richard Halliburton. Several college students performed the feat last year. Now three college girls have beaten the channel, Lucy Hancock, of University, Va., from Vassar, and two Smith College girls, Eleanor Stutley of Wellesley, Mass., and Eugenie Paterson, above, also of Wellesley, Mass. The three girls are on an Aegean cruise.

Twenty-eight Colleges in State Practice On Barred Fields.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10.—The thud of bouncing footballs was again heard around the Buckeye state today as foot met pigskin on 28 Ohio college gridirons.

Teams of these score and eight institutions swung into action in earnest to give Ohio's football fandom the thrill which only a first practice session can give. This thrill is followed only by the starting whistles as these same eleven assemble on the field to battle their new and ancient foes.

Prospective members of teams in the Buckeye Athletic Association, Ohio Conference and Northwest Conference gathered at their home camps yesterday to prepare for the first practice.

Ohio State, the largest of Ohio universities, starts its early training next Monday, with Sam Williams, its new head coach, at the helm. More than a half-dozen unaffiliated colleges will begin their grid training within the next week.

BIG SIX IS ACTIVE

Among the smaller schools, the spotlight is turned upon the "big six." Ohio Wesleyan, Wittenberg, Miami, Denison, Cincinnati and Ohio. Some excellent football was played in this conference last year, and the rivalry is keen. Coach George Gauthier of Wesleyan has assembled a coaching staff of nine men in an effort to win a clean-cut title this year. The Bishops shared honors with Wittenberg last year.

William T. Stobbs, Wittenberg's new mentor and Coach Chester Pittner at Miami each expect 60 candidates to report before the close of the first week's practice. Coach Don Peden at Ohio, has 14 lettermen who hope to dedicate the new $185,000 stadium of the Bobcats with a win. Denison and Cincinnati, the other members of the big six aim to finish higher than they did last year.

CHAMPS PLAN REPEAT

In the Ohio conference, Heidelberg and Muskingum appear as the leaders. Heidelberg, under the coaching of Herman Sayer, was undefeated last year and had only one tie. Coach Bill Lange and his Muskies are concentrating on building up a new line for their 1929 campaign. Muskingum does not begin its practice until next week.

Boling Green, Champions of the Northwest Conference last year, will attempt another lease on the title. They were tied twice in non-conference teams in 1928.

Coach "Bud" Wilson and his Defiance College "Yellow Jackets" are out to take the flag which they so narrowly lost last year. A veteran squad has reported for the first practice session.

Banff to Celebrate Seven Centuries of Scottish Song

BANFF SPRINGS HOTEL, FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS

From its mountain setting in the heart of the Canadian Rockies the town of Banff has just sounded the call for its third annual Highland Gathering and Scottish Music Festival. Scheduled to last from August 30 through September 2, with headquarters at the Banff Springs Hotel, the occasion will show anew how seven centuries of Scottish song have survived in the keeping of the Scots who have largely peopled the Canadian west.

Arranged as before by the Canadian Pacific Railway under the patronage take the field. Ohio Northern and Bluffton tangle at Bluffton, while Cedarville goes to Lexington, Ky. for a game with Transylvania College.

The season gets into full swing Sept. 28, when 31 Ohio College teams get into action on 20 gridirons. Denison's engagement with the Navy at Annapolis is the high spot of the day. The following week will see every team in the state in the race.

of the Prince of Wales, the Festival promises to convert Banff for four days into a miniature Scotland. Every crack Highland regiment in the Dominion has entered its best pipers to compete in the piping contests for the E. W. Beatty Trophy. Lads and lassies from six to sixty will show how the reel and the sword dance should be danced and how the highland fling should be flung. In addition to traditional Caledonian games like putting the stone and throwing the caber, Canada's Amateur Track and Field Championships on September 2 (Labor Day) have been made part of the Festival.

Harold Eustace Key, music director for the Canadian Pacific, has arranged a series of concerts of Scottish music, starting with the ballads of the 13th century and continuing through the periods of Mary Queen of Scots, the Stuarts and the Jacobites, followed by selections from the songs of Burns, Sir Walter Scott, Lady Nairne, Christopher North and the Hebridean music recently made popular by Marjory Kennedy-Fraser. Other features are "Flora and Prince Charlie," a ballad opera by Dr. Healey Willan, and a Gaelic fisher folk play by Hebrideans from Vancouver.

Besides notable Canadian artists like Finlay Campbell, Catherine Wright and Frances James, Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser herself has been brought over from Scotland to sing several groups of her Hebridean songs. She has achieved world fame as rediscoverer, editor and singer of the long neglected songs of the Scottish Isles. This music, preserved in its original character by the simple crofters of the sequestered isles, has been widely accepted as the truest measure of the Gaelic soul.

Black Ox Always the Symbol of Misfortune

The black ox symbolizes old age, ill luck, adversity, or trouble in general, according to an article in the Pathfinder Magazine. "The black ox has trod on his foot," is a proverbial expression recorded already in 1455 by John Heywood. It means that one knows the meaning of sorrow and misfortune, such as having been visited by death.

The phrase alludes to the black cattle sacrificed by the ancient pagans to the infernal deities, especially to Pluto, supreme judge and lord of the underworld. White cattle were sacrificed to Jupiter.

At Rome the altar on which the black oxen were sacrificed was 20 feet below the level of the ground and was never exposed to public view except when the sacrifices were being made. Among the Arabs the black camel is the symbol of murder and death by violence.

TIGERS FACING HARD CONTEST

C. H. S. Will Have Hard Assignment In Game With Marysville Team.

When the Circleville Tigers tie up with Marysville on Sept. 20, they will have no easy encounter. In all, the Marysville team has won 25 out of 28 football games in the past three seasons.

Marysville has gained a record that is not to be equalled by many schools, having been beaten but three times in three seasons.

Coach Kingsmore's gridders lost one game in 1926, dropping a 6 to 0 decision to Bellefontaine; won every game in 1927, scoring 351 points to their opponents' 26. Teams played were: Delaware, Forest, St. Charles of Columbus, Nelsonville, Kingscreek, London, Bellefontaine, Hartford, Richmond and Fostoria.

Their record last year was: Marysville, 6; Delaware, 0. Marysville, 58; Kenton, 0. Marysville, 6; Gallion, 18. Marysville, 13; Urbana, 39. Marysville, 28; Bellefontaine, 6. Marysville, 60; Ashley, 0. Marysville, 25; Dayton Oakwood, 0.

Marysville, 27; Wapakoneta, 14. Marysville, 34; London, 0. Marysville made 257; opponents, 77.

COUNTY BUDGET HEARINGS START

The Pickaway-co budget commission started Tuesday to conduct hearings on taxing district budgets and to make the tax rates. The rate fixing is expected to be concluded within two weeks. The budget commission is composed of County Auditor Bryce Briggs, County Treasurer T. Dell Barr and Prosecuting Attorney Emmett L. Crist.

Helpful Clubs

Lend-a-hand clubs are organizations for young people established in 1871 for religious, philanthropic and social purposes. The name is taken from Edward Everett Hale's story "Ten Times One Is Ten." The clubs have a common badge, a Maltese cross with the inscription "In His Name," but each arranges its own constitution.

No man ever awakens in the same town in which he went to bed the night before. . . . Nothing can be "the whole gospel" if life may be seen growing on the outside of it as luxuriously as within it.—John Andrew Holmes.

Fashionable Vanity

Ladies of fashion starve their happiness to feed their vanity, and their love to feed their pride.—Colton.

Created or Cultivated?

We wish to defend the Lord by saying He did not create human nature. We think the people themselves cultivated human nature.—Atchison Globe.

Shades of Leander

Famed for its heavy cross tides and treacherous currents, the Hellespont defied swimmers up to the time of the mythical Leander of Greece. Then came Lord Byron and later Richard Halliburton. Several college students performed the feat last year. Now three college girls have beaten the channel, Lucy Hancock, of University, Va., from Vassar, and two Smith College girls, Eleanor Stutley of Wellesley, Mass., and Eugenie Paterson, above, also of Wellesley, Mass. The three girls are on an Aegean cruise.

Good Old Roman Statute

Storks' law was the name given to an old Roman law which compelled children to maintain their parents in old age, provided the latter were in want. It was supposed to be in imitation of the habits of storks, which take care of their elders when crippled by age or accident.

Long Champion Emblem

The use of a belt as an emblem of championship is of very ancient origin, dating back at least to the time of the siege of Troy. Homer in describing the game at the funeral of Patroclus mentions a belt in this connection.

Tricks of Fire Eaters

Different methods are used by fire eaters to keep the tongue and hands from burning. Some rub the skin of the parts to be affected with hard soap, the tongue included, and over that a layer of powdered sugar is placed. Others use a solution of alum, or liquid storax.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

October 6-12

—It Pays to Observe It

Fire Prevention Week is an occasion of Presidential Proclamation—the Governors of our States also proclaim it. These are indications of its importance and significance to the public.

Communities which have adequately and intelligently observed Fire Prevention Week have profited by substantial reductions in the amount and number of fire losses occurring within that week, and the weeks immediately following.

650 Cities Have Year-round Program

Under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, 650 cities are competing in continuous programs of fire prevention and protection. In these cities Fire Prevention Week is an occasion for a fresh yearly start.

Chambers of Commerce and similar bodies realize that the prevention of destruction by fire of an existing industrial plant is just as important as the winning of a new enterprise for the community.

When fire puts men out of work they frequently leave the city or become a community problem such as arises in any locality lacking employment opportunity.

A Comprehensive Program

The unusual facilities and information which the Stock Fire Insurance companies provide have been extensively used in such work and are constantly available to any individual, organization or community.

Comprehensive and intelligent programs of fire prevention and protection have been important factors in the reduction of the National Fire Waste and in making communities safer. This information may be obtained from the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

DAVEY LEE TEACHES YOUNG GENERATION HOW TO PLAY

Davey Lee, who is "Sonny Boy" to all the world, is teaching the young generation how to play! This time, it's pocket billiards! And a four-year-old who can't count up to fifteen simply isn't in it in Hollywood since Davey became the youngest billiard champion in the world.

When Davey was in Chicago recently, intent on the serious business of recording "The Three Bears" and other professional documents for the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company for distribution on Brunswick records, he insisted on having his billiard table adjacent to the recording room, where he could relax between recordings with a fast game of pocket billiards.

Davey is the possessor of the smallest size billiard table made—a 22½ by 42½ inch, and is just able to make the long shots necessary in scientific billiards.

The four-year-old champion has challenged the younger set of the Pacific Coast to numerous matches in this exciting sport. It's also an intelligence test, and the principal hazard for pre-kindergartners lies in the difficulty of counting the balls from one to fifteen successfully.

Remembering that thirteen follows twelve and not fourteen was the most difficult feature of the game for Davey, according to Clifford Ellison, sports director of Brunswick, who gave Davey his first lessons in the science of shooting what Davey refers to as the "big marbles."

"The World's youngest billiard player is an excellent shot. His eye is true, his shot strong—and he never falls on the numbers," Mr. Ellison says.

"He considers the difficult plays with great deliberation, and puts them right into the pocket even if he has to crawl up onto the table for the more complicated shots."

Dark Secret

Our memory goes back to the time when, if a nice girl had broken her leg, as they very seldom did, however, in those days, she'd have asked the doctor not to tell what the matter was.—Ohio State Journal.

Got the Knees Mixed

Johnny was complaining of a badly bruised knee. It had always paid him well when he took his hurts to mother because she soothed his feelings with a 5-cent piece.

On this occasion Johnny needed 5 cents for a top. He remembered that he had a small bruise on his knee and if he could only make mother believe that it pained him, all would be well.

Mother listened to Johnny's tale of how he had fallen on his knee and bruised it. She asked to see the knee and Johnny sensed victory. He hurriedly pulled his stocking down, but alas and alack! it was the wrong stocking!—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

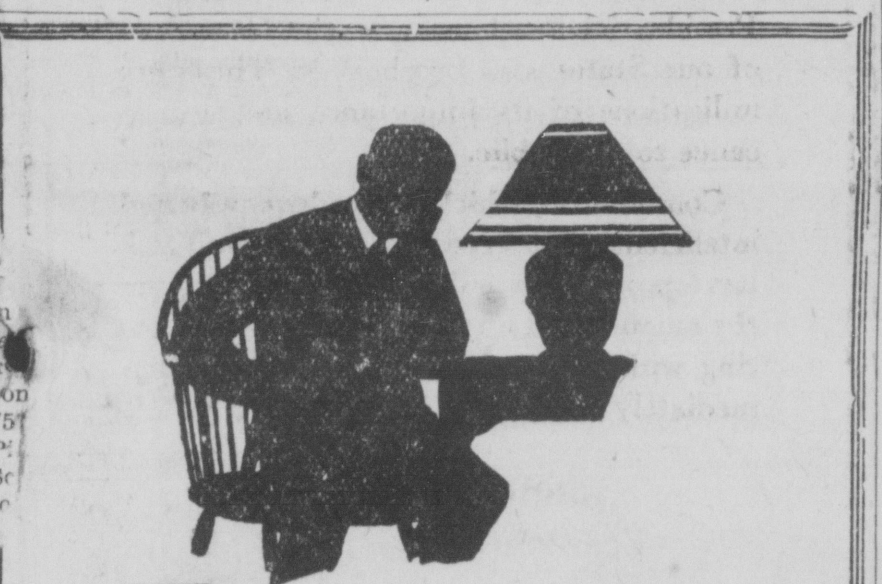

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an anti-acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia!

When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener—more mothers should invoke its aid for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

HOYT'S COMPOUND IS DIFFERENT

"Just What I Needed For My Deranged Organs," Declares This Well Known Ohio Man.

Mr. A. K. Smith, 820 East Northern Avenue, Springfield, Ohio, is still another WELL KNOWN resident of this section who is making a public statement praising and endorsing Hoyt's Compound.

MR. A. K. SMITH.

"Just recently I began having trouble with terrible dizzy spells and while out walking would have to hold to something to keep from falling," said Mr. Smith. "I would walk down the street just like a person who is intoxicated. My bowels were in such a condition that it was impossible to get them to act for at least three days at a time. I had to always be taking strong laxatives in order to even get temporary relief from this bowel affliction. I always had a tired wornout feeling when arising of a morning and at times I would have spells with my stomach and could not eat the things I cared for."

"I want everyone to know that I have taken a short treatment of Hoyt's Compound and that I am now like a new and different man entirely. My bowels are regular and that awful dizziness is all gone and I get my proper rest at night and I feel 'Great' when I get up of a morning. I can now eat the things I care for without the slightest distress following. I have never found anything to compare with HOYT'S COMPOUND. I am making this statement in order that other sufferers may regain their health the same as I."

Mr. Smith, who is 63 years of age, has lived in Springfield for the past 32 years and has THOUSANDS of friends and acquaintances throughout this locality. Hoyt's Compound is sold in Circleville at Wilder's Drug Store and by all the leading druggists in surrounding towns.—Adv.

THE WASTES OF BUSINESS

The statement was recently made by Assistant Secretary of Commerce Klein, that American business wastes from $8,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 each year. Some of the leaks were described as follows: Unwise credit methods, disorderly marketing, particularly of perishable goods, extravagant delivery services, unwise installment methods, and less in the packing, handling, and transportation of merchandise.

It is the opinion of many business men, that the greatest need of the times is for more efficient methods for distribution of commodities by retail.

The problem is difficult, because the practices complained of have grown up as a result of trying to meet the popular demand. It is claimed that there is too much loss on bad debts, it can be said that retail firms are all the time competing with all their might to get trade, and they take on many people of doubtful credit in order to make sales. Also if they adopt wasteful methods in delivery, this is in response to popular demand. People want to have goods delivered to their door, and enormous sums are spent in providing this convenience. Much has to be done to educate the public, if such wastes are to be abolished.

The loss of perishable food products is referred to, and it is a heavy one. Many dealers could move these products a great deal faster and save much of this waste if they would advertise more.

People have their own individual tastes and they insist on these being satisfied. That makes it necessary for retail stores to keep very large stocks on hand, which ties up vast sums of capital. If people want to get the cost of distribution down, they must not insist so strenuously in satisfying every little whim. They must take standard things like what the rest of the folks are using.

ACCIDENTS AND FATIGUE

One reason for many automobile accidents, is the weariness of drivers, and consequent failure to take their usual precautions. After a man has driven a car on a long trip, or driven a truck around cities and small towns all day, his attention is not as good as it was in the morning. He is more apt to trust to luck to pull him through difficult situations.

People who are traveling on long tours are foolish to extend the same too many miles. Better call it a day a little earlier, and put the car safely away before it does something you are sorry for.

The case of truck drivers is different, since they have certain routes to cover. Employers should not ask their men to drive distances longer than they can cover with good responsible driving. The car that gets into an accident is apt to be an expensive one to a business.

CENSUS TAKERS MUST KEEP MUM

Hundred Thousand Enumerators in May Will Be Sworn to Secrecy.

Washington.—The entire army of 100,000 census enumerators who will start taking the 1930 census next May 1 will be sworn to secrecy.

William M. Stuart, census bureau director, let it be known the oath of office for enumerators will contain a provision that each must preserve the secrecy of information secured. A heavy penalty is provided for violating this provision.

"Do not be afraid or have the slightest hesitation in answering enumerator's questions frankly, without hesitancy or mental reservation," Stuart said. "All information obtained will be held confidential."

100,000 to Take Census.
The taking of the census next May promises now to proceed smoothly. Fortunately, it will not be accompanied by such scenes as were witnessed in Turkey, when Turks imprisoned the entire population in their houses on the day of the census.

The census bureau has tentatively established enumeration districts for the taking of the census and is now making plans to employ 100,000 enumerators to work in the districts, taking a census of population, farms, mines, irrigation, and drainage projects and unemployment.

One month, starting May 1, 1930, is allotted Stuart to complete this tremendous task. The first population census took 13 months to count a little less than 4,000,000, while the 1930 census will enumerate about 120,000,000.

"The population of the United States is increasing at the rate of about 1,400,000 persons a year, or approximately one person every 28 seconds," Stuart said. "The total increase is made up of the annual excess of births over deaths, which amounts to about 1,150,000, and the excess of immigration over emigration, which totals about 240,000 annually."

Counters Must Work Quickly.
"History records no other instance in which the population has increased so rapidly. By 1930 the population will be more than 30 times as great as it was in 1790 and nearly twice what it was in 1890, only 40 years ago."

Stuart said each enumerator will have about 1,600 persons to tabulate. The counters must work quickly and accurately. They will receive about $75 to $100 each for their work.

For the first time in history the country will have an accurate count of the unemployed. At present those out of work are estimated between 1,000,000 and 4,000,000.

Officials estimated the census next year would tabulate a population of about 120,000,000 people, about 6,250,000 farms, 14,000 mines and quarries, and more than 100,000 irrigation and draining projects.

"Why?" wrote the judge.

"Needed money," the mute answered.

When the penalty was made known to him, the prisoner hastily indicated: "I'll give everything back."

"Don't do this kind of thing again," was the magistrate's next inscription.

"Never," Botrich spelled out.

"Sentence suspended," wrote the judge, closing the case.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Eddie Regan has been persuaded to give up his position as shipping clerk and join a gang, of which the "Big Guy" is the leading spirit. They choose Eddie to pull off a particular "job," and Bernice Veressi, gang girl, intimates that she is his for the asking after the job is finished. Eddie becomes disgusted with the life and, making his escape, hops a freight train which takes him to Virginia. Walking down a road he sees a girl on horseback and realizes now that Bernice has gone out of his life forever.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER IV.
THE sun of early June poured with gentle heat on his back. This road narrowed and led through woodland with the thick green of pine and bracken on either side. Wild laurel touched the roadside with great bushes of pink clustered blooms. Eddie's ears, accustomed to the clamor of city, strained for familiar sounds. There was a balmy sweetness in the air and the trilling of birds was all he heard.

"A million miles from nowhere," he muttered.

For almost an hour he walked, and then an automobile stopped beside him. A dull looking man opened the door to the front seat. "Hop in," he said. "I'll give you a lift."

This was a strange car and Eddie was unused to the customs of these people.

"All right," he said with sudden decision. "It's pretty hot for a fellow like me tramping through the country."

The driver made no attempt to draw him into conversation. For a few miles they rode along in silence.

Once more Eddie's heart gave a start. They passed the golden girl on horseback but his glimpse of her was fleeting and confused.

When the driver announced he must turn off the main road, Eddie got out of the car and resumed walking. After a while it was borne upon him that it was senseless to continue the aimless wandering. The few houses along the way were bleak, ramshackle and tumbled down. Most of them he observed, were occupied by negroes.

Before one giant and sagging structure standing in the center of an uncultivated field Eddie stopped. With a speculative eye he estimated the probability of finding a place to stay—for the present, at least. In his pocket was a thin roll of bills; later on he could look for work.

For the first time he noticed an automobile standing beside the road and partially hidden by trees and bushes. Simultaneously, he saw a man come out of the front door of a house and stride down the path toward the car. Something in the walk of the man denoted danger—the choppy stride of pump legs, the swing of arms, the flush on his face.

Coming up to Eddie, he paused a moment before he got into the car; he was breathing rapidly and there was a little twitching of the eye.

"Can you heat it—I almost got shot in there! That's your Southern aristocracy for you!"

His face was sweetly and his big eyes looked Eddie up and down. What he saw was a thin youth with a natty suit, shabby shoes and dust-stained. The city was stamped all over Eddie. Toward him the angry man seemed to feel a sort of kinship.

"So you almost got shot, did you?" Eddie asked.

The other smiled. "I almost have that fellow in that car interested," he declared. "Mister, I'm softly, without excitement.

"Certainly," said Eddie, with a stunned, awkward feeling.

Now that he was standing close beside her he was overcome with the realization that the atmosphere around him had become, suddenly, rarefied—that every time he breathed his heart beat faster. No girl on earth had ever affected him this way before.

The negro hurried on ahead of them toward the house.

"Didn't I pass you down the road?" she asked him, with perfect poise.

For some unaccountable reason he lied. "I—I don't remember."

Her blue eyes looked straight at him with a slight mystification. She knew he was not telling the truth.

"You've passed you," she said. "You were sitting under a tree—but it doesn't matter. You're a stranger around here, aren't you?"

"Yes'm, I'm a stranger."

"I'm glad you happened along at this time." A slight tremble was in her voice. "It isn't exactly pleasant for me to go up to that house alone. You see Mr. Penfield Partridge who lives there in an old man and he doesn't like my father or any of our family at all. He's sorta high tem' and cantankerous—he hasn't even spoken to any of us for twenty years or more. But if he's sick or dying—"

Eddie nodded wisely.

"If the old boy's in trouble I suppose that wipes out all the hard feelings," he remarked, with an attempt at philosophy.

But as he spoke he felt he was talking out of the side of his mouth in the New York manner. Vaguely he was conscious that he must be appearing crude and almost illiterate before this easy spoken young roddess.

THEATRES

RIVALS RAINBOW

An entire stage was built on which much of the action of "On With The Show," Warner Bros. first 100 percent natural color, talking, singing, dancing picture, at the Grand Theatre.

It is a set representing the first scene of a musical comedy, which is laid in the South, and it is complete with a Colonial mansion, the Mississippi River as a black drop, the prow of a steamboat and bales of cotton as props. Handling the Mississippi in mid-winter was something new to motive stage experts, but results show that they solved the problem.

"On With The Show" is Warner Brothers' most pretentious effort. It was photographed by a new all color process which brings out every shade in its true value. Alan Crosland directed, with Sally O'Neil, Arthur Lake, Betty Compson, William Bakewell, Louise Fazenda, Sam Hardy, Joe E. Brown, Lee Moran, The Fairbanks Twins, and other in the cast, and a dazzling beauty chorus of one hundred. Something brand new in the entertainment world. Again the Warner Bros. pioneer.

TWO LEADING LADIES

Two leading ladies support Richard Barthelmess in his latest First National-Vitaphone 100percent talking picture, "Drag," which is at the Cliftonia Theatre.

One, Lila Lee is a brunette; the other, Alice Day, is a blonde. The blonde has the best of it at the start, for she marries the hero but they do not live happily ever after. Too many "in-laws" is the cause. The bride puts her family first in all things, which leads to a great big opportunity of which the brunette takes advantage, and she comes in first at the finish.

Both are well-meaning girls and if it hadn't been for the blonds family complex everything would probably have been smooth and happy in the domestic life of David Carroll-as Dick Barthelmess is called the "Drag."

The picture includes a very elaborate musical show staged on the most lavish Broadway scale. It is called "The Love Prince," and the haunting and seductive central melody is "My Song of the Nile."

"Can you beat it—I almost got shot in there! That's your Southern aristocracy for you!"

His face was twenty and his hot eyes looked Eddie up and down. What he saw was a trim youth with a natty suit, sadly rumpled and dust-stained. The city was stamped all over Eddie. Toward him the angry man seemed to feel a sort of kinship.

"So you almost got shot, did you?" Eddie asked, nonchalantly.

The other snorted. "I ought to have that fellow in that house arrested," he declared. "Mister, I'm softly, without excitement.

"Certainly," said Eddie, with a stunned, awkward feeling.

Now that he was standing close beside her he was overcome with the realization that the atmosphere around him had become, suddenly, charged—that every time he breathed his heart beat faster. No girl on earth had ever affected him this way before.

The negro hurried on ahead of them toward the house.

"Didn't I pass you down the road?" she asked him, with perfect poise.

For some unaccountable reason he lied. "I—I don't remember."

Her blue eyes looked straight at him with a slight mystification. She knew he was not telling the truth.

"Yes I passed you," she said. "You were sitting under a tree—but it doesn't matter. You're a stranger around here, aren't you?"

"Yes'm, I'm a stranger."

"I'm glad you happened along at this time. A slight tremble was in her voice. "It isn't exactly pleasant for me to go up to that house alone. You see Mr. Penfield Partridge who lives there in an old man and he doesn't like my father or any of my family at all. He's sorta high tem' and cantankerous—he hasn't even spoken to any of us for twenty years or more. But if he's sick or dying—"

Eddie nodded wisely.

"If the old boy's in trouble I suppose that wipes out all the hard feelings," he remarked, with an attempt at philosophy.

But as he spoke he felt he was talking out of the side of his mouth in the New York manner. Vaguely he was conscious that he must be appearing crude and almost illiterate before this easy spoken young goddess.

"I suppose you're right," she said. "But it does give me a strange feeling to go to his house. That's why I'm glad you happened along—so I wouldn't have to go alone."

A surge of protective feeling spread through Eddie. If she needed service—if it made her any happier he was ready to walk into fire into a den of lions.

"You leave it all to me," he declared with unexpected vehemence. "There ain't nobody on earth going to harm a hair on your head!"

The blue eyes looked at him and smiled.

"How ridiculous—of course nobody is going to harm a hair of my head!" she said. "What made you think I was afraid?"

Eddie felt his neck grow red. "I'm sorry," he mumbled.

They went into the house and passed through a bare hall into a living room that was dusty and disordered as rooms get when men live without women. Against the wall was a dull-finished table of mahogany with drop leaves. Musty books were in shelves; cheap wall paper peeled from plaster and there were scattered chairs of design unfamiliar to Eddie. Double doors revealed a dining room, scantily furnished, yet somewhat jumbled with walnut and mahogany pieces.

Collapsed in a great chair in the living room was an old man, a lanky man with a lean face and a high, arched nose. The form in the chair was inert, a rack of bones in shiny black broadcloth, an unresponsive husk. A bony hand that had been pressed to the breast had dropped like a dead thing.

"Thank God you is heah, Miss Marian. Marse Penfield is had a stroke and he dies right now, less'n I git help!"

The girl knotted the bridle rein around the fence post. For the first time she looked at Eddie.

"You come along, too," she said

THEATRES

RIVALS RAINBOW

An entire stage was built on which much of the action of "On With The Show," Warner Bros. first 100 percent natural color, talking, singing dancing picture, at the Grand Theater.

It is a set representing the first scene of a musical comedy, which is laid in the South, and it is complete with a Colonial mansion, the Mississippi River as a black drop, the prow of a steamboat and and bales of cotton as props. Handling the Mississippi in mid-winter was something new to motive stage experts, but results show that they solved the problem.

"On With The Show" is Warner Brothers' most pretentious effort. It was photographed by a new all color process which brings out every shade in its true value. Alan Crosland directed, with Sally O'Neil, Arthur Lake, Betty Compson, William Bakewell, Louise Fazenda, Sam Hardy, Joe E. Brown, Lee Moran, The Fairbanks Twins, and other in the cast, and a dazzling beauty chorus of one hundred. Something brand new in the entertainment world. Again the Warner Bros. pioneer.

TWO LEADING LADIES

Two leading ladies support Richard Barthelmess in his latest First National-Vitaphone 100percent talking picture, "Drag," which is at the Cliftonia Theatre.

One, Lila Lee is a brunette; the other, Alice Day, is a blonde.

The blonde has the best of it at the start, for she marries the hero but they do not live happily ever after. Too many "in-laws" is the cause. The bride puts her family first in all things, which leads to a great big opportunity of which the brunette takes advantage, and she comes in first at the finish.

Both are well-meaning girls and if it hadn't been for the blonds family complex everything would probably have been smooth and happy in the domestic life of David Carroll as Dick Barthelmess is called the "Drag".

The picture includes a very elaborate musical show staged on the most lavish Broadway scale. It is called "The Love Prince," and the haunting and seductive central melody is "My Song of the Nile."

Tree Saved by Washington

The American Forestry association says that the Washington oak in Audubon park, New Orleans, La., is famous for its beauty, its name the number of annual visitors and its size. It is said to have acquired its name in the following fashion: President Washington was visiting a family by the name of Horry. At dinner Mr. Horry noticed that a tree obstructed his view and gave orders that it should be cut down. Washington heard this and objected. The tree was not cut down and has since been known as the Washington oak.

HUSBAND HONORED ON ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Harold White very pleasantly entertained Saturday night in honor of her husband's birthday anniversary. Several musicians among the guests furnished music for round and square dancing that was the delightful entertainment of the evening. Mr. White received many handsome birthday presents.

Late at night a pot luck supper was served to these friends: Mr. and Mrs. Warner Dreisbach, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sowers, and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. H. Goldsberry, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Barr, Mr. and Mrs. William Wilkinson, and sons, Frank and Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. William Madden, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Buskirk, and son, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Pierce and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lois Gerard, Mrs. Rose Wolf, Mrs. Helen Dawson, and son Albert, Mr. Albert Reid and host and hostess all of this city and Miss Frances DeLong of Columbus.

PAST CHIEFS TO BE ENTERTAINED

Mrs. George Marion will entertain the Past Chief's club Wednesday evening at her home. This organization of the Pythian sisters is active both socially and in the chapter.

FIRST ONES OFF FOR COLLEGE

Miss Alice Roof, Miss Annabelle Barch and Miss Priscilla Trimmer entered Capital university Monday morning. They are the first of the college set to start or return to school.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR DAUGHTER

Mrs. Merton Westenhaver of Circleville-2wp entertained Friday evening with a six o'clock dinner, honoring the fifteenth birthday of her daughter Helen.

Asters of many colors were used for the color scheme.

Cards were enjoyed throughout the evening by all.

The young folks were seated at one long table which was lighted with many candles. Those who enjoyed the evening were: Misses Odesa Elsea, Erma Valentine, Dorothy Riegel, Katherine Leist, Margaret Riegel, Messrs Robert Elsea, Clyde Leist, Jr., and the immediate family.

MR. AND MRS. MAY ARE MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Wednesday, September 11 will mark the completion of half a century of married life for Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. May of 108 S. Pickaway-st. Although there will be no specific celebration, friends of the couple will be welcome at the May home throughout the day. The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. May will spend their golden wedding day with them. These will include Mr. and Mrs. Leslie May and son, Donald and daughter, Mary Cathrine, and Miss Alice Ada May, of this city, and

Mr. and Mrs. Percy May and son, Robert and daughters, Sarah Virginia and Adabelle and Mr. Lutz May of Clarksburg, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira May, two of Circleville's most highly respected citizens, were married September 11, 1879 in Ross-co, in the spacious home place of Colonel Isaac Lutz. Since that date, have followed 50 years of happiness in which the couple have made innumerable friends who wish to extend congratulations. A golden wedding anniversary is a rare celebration enjoyed by few.

ANNUAL W. C. T. U. MEETING THURSDAY AT U. B. CHURCH
The Pickaway-co Women's Christian Temperance Union will have the annual convention on Thursday, September 12, in the United Brethren church on E Main-st. The day will begin at 10 a. m. and at noon dinner will be served at the community house next door, at a nominal sum by the women of the church.

An executive meeting will be held at one o'clock. Mrs. Lucy E. Van Kirk editor of the Ohio Messenger will address the afternoon session. All members in Pickaway-co are urged to attend this annual meeting, and visitors are cordially invited.

TO ENTERTAIN WEDNESDAY WITH DINNER BRIDGE

Miss Mary Walters will entertain Wednesday evening with a dinner bridge at 6:30 o'clock at her home in Circleville-2wp. Twenty guests have been invited.

IS HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Charles Fullen was hostess to her bridge club Tuesday night with no extra tables and only one guest. She was Mrs. Clarence Hott of Columbus, a former member of the club. High scores for the evening were made by Miss Winifred Parrett and Mrs. Hott. Mrs. Mary Beck also of Northridge-rd will entertain the club in two weeks.

MISS YOUNG IS HONORED

Members of the bridge club to which Miss Lillian Young belongs planned a surprise meeting on Tuesday night in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Miss Young, who suspected nothing, was pleased at this splendid manner of remembering her birthday.

The uninvited guests had neglected nothing in their preparation for the evening of cards and refreshments. Four additional guests to form an extra table were Mrs. Walter Denman, Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, Miss Elizabeth Tolbert and Miss Anna Shea.

Trophies for the evening were won by Mrs. Walter Denman and Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, while a gift prize for Miss Young, was presented by all of those present.

MONDAY CLUB OPENS WITH EDUCATION PROGRAM

Mrs. Evan Reichelderfer, assuming her office of presidency Monday night at the first meeting of the Monday club year. The outgoing president, Mrs. Arthur Wilder had charge of a short business session which disposed of matters which remained from last year. She then introduced Mrs. Reichelderfer, who spoke to the members, asking for their co-operation in the plans and program outlined for the year.

The program of the evening was in charge of the education department, and was headed "Development of Education." Under this heading Miss Florence Hoffman read an excellent paper entitled, "A Study of the School Curriculum." The paper was made especially for the occasion.

Suppose, like most people, you buy about twelve tubes during a year. Now if you knew that you could buy as good a dentifrice as can be made and still save each year the price of 25 loaves of bread or 60 bars of soap or 40 pounds of sugar or a box of fine cigars—could you conscientiously fail to take advantage of such an opportunity?

That is exactly what you do when you buy Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. Figure it out for yourself.

Whole Nation Joins Child Health Move Backed by Citizens' $500,000 Purse

Children's health is engaging the federal government's attention in a real way. Under President Hoover as outlined by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur and Secretary of Labor Davis, national committees will investigate the problem, making recommendations at a great conference in 1930. "The children's president," so dubbed for leading the great humanitarian movement, has ready for the work $500,000, given by private citizens. Safeguarding childhood now is a national issue under federal direction.

The mothers of the United States, up to now, have had almost sole responsibility for child health. They have insisted on pure foods, disease immunization, regular physical examinations and special cleanliness in the home as necessities in child rearing. According to the household research bureau of Peoria, Ill., this cleanliness is one of the best aids to infection resistance. Children, says the bureau conducted by the makers of ABC washers, best kept in continued good health if clothed always in clean, germ-free garments. "Harmful bacteria multiply with terrible rapidity in soiled clothing. Keeping clothes clean is easy for the efficient mother who quickly washes them clean and sweet in a Spinler. Drying them is even easier in the Spinler's water-extractor that displaces the old wringer."

Far more than ever, child health is to be conserved and increased, for the nation's continued advancement.

ally interesting by the fact that he material for the most part had been taken from actual experience of Miss Hoffman in her school room. She explained the new system of grading the children on their ability, and described the results of the Dalton and Project methods of instruction in schools. Many of the listeners who had often read of these methods were grateful for the opportunity for the explanation given in such an entertaining way.

Another very interesting part of the program was the paper read and written by Mrs. J. P. Noecker, headed "The Pre-School Education." Mrs. Noecker spoke of the nursery school and the kindergarten, and of the strong part these play in the lives of children, and the methods used in cities of meeting this need. That without a doubt, the impressionistic age of every child is between the ages of one to five, was explained by Mrs. Noecker. Careful research had revealed the material for these papers, and they received the appreciation that they deserved.

Mrs. Maud Foster was received as a new member to the club at the first meeting of the year. The next meeting will be on September 16 at the regular hour.

COUPLE MARRIED IN COLUMBUS

The marriage of Miss Mary Cristy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Christy of Amanda to Mr. Frank Madden, prominent farmer of near Amanda was solemnized Tuesday, September 3 in Columbus.

An uncle of the groom, Rev. Amos L. Madden, performed the impressive ceremony.

Mr. Madden is the son of Mrs. William Madden and the late William Madden of near Amanda.

A host of friends extended heartiest congratulations and best wishes.

BIG CONTEST IS ANNOUNCED

Food Preservation Council Offers $25,000 For Prize Winning Essays.

People in Circleville who think they are ready to go broke can abandon the idea because here's a way to scoop up a little money. The National Food Preservation Council are conducting a nationwide contest. This contest is the $25,000 competition for an essay written on the subject "Why 50 Degrees is the Danger Point."

The contest is open to any resident of the U. S. except persons who are associated with the refrigeration industry. The essays must not be longer than 400 words written in English. The subject of each essay must be the value and benefit of food preservation, either from the standpoint of health sanitation or economic saving, or any combination of these three.

Booklets summarizing information on this subject may be obtained from George Rogers, exclusive Frigidaire dealer in Circleville or from the National Food Preservation Council, 420 Lexington Ave., New York City. Essays will be judged 90 per cent on the originality of thought and evidence of study displayed, and 10 per cent on the clearness of expression, neatness and order of construction. The essays will not be returned. The contest closes at midnight Sept. 30, 1929. The national awards will be decided Dec. 6. The names of the winners will be announced in a national way.

The first prize is a Model Home; or $10,000 in gold; second prize, 1930 5-passenger Cadillac coupe, or $3,500 in gold; third prize, $2,000 in gold; fourth prize, $1,000 in gold; fifth prize, $500 in gold; sixth prize, $400 in gold; seventh prize, $350 in gold; eighth prize, $300; ninth prize, $250; tenth prize $200; twenty-five prizes, Nos. 11 to 35 inclusive, $100 in gold. Eight hundred prizes, Nos. 36 to 835 inclusive, $5 each in gold.

It is well worth any one's time to sit down and write a story about this, and win real money. If any one in Circleville wishes to compete, in this contest, see George Rogers at Moffitt's Electric shop for information about this big idea contest.

To Strengthen Eyes
Eye exercise to strengthen the muscles are advised by certain physicians, and these should be done before breakfast. Keep the head still and roll the eyes upwards as far as possible, then right down wards, with a steady and unjerky motion. Continue rolling the eyes right, then left. Now lift them upwards and inwards, then up wards and outwards; and finally downwards and inwards, and down wards and outwards. Do this five times at first and gradually increase to twelve a day.

Frigidaire with the "Cold Control" freezes desserts better.. makes ice quicker.. keeps foods fresher... longer

THE Frigidaire "Cold Control" has introduced a new standard in electric refrigeration. It is as important as a gas regulator on an oven. This simple, patented device controls Frigidaire's surplus power. It gives you six freezing speeds at the turn of a handy lever... faster freezing of ice, and perfect results in the making of frozen salads and desserts that require extreme cold. And every household Frigidaire is now equipped with the "Cold Control" without added cost to the buyer.

Look inside one of these Frigidaires of today. Note how convenient is the height of the shelves... how smooth and lustrous is the Porcelain-on-steel interior... how easy to clean, inside and out. The mechanism is completely concealed... away from dust and dirt, and incredibly quiet.

Then consider these important factors. Frigidaire's special insulation... moisture proof, heat resisting, enduring. The sturdy steel construction... the precision workmanship... the rigid inspection of the finished job. And finally, the great General Motors organization that has made all this possible... at prices based upon enormous production.

Let us tell you more about Frigidaire and the easy monthly terms. See a complete demonstration. Call at our show room... today.

Let us help you win in big $25,000.00 contest

Come into our display room. Learn why 50° is the safety point for perishable foods. Then write a letter that will give you a chance to win a model home, a Cadillac car or one of many

POSTLUDE

It's all over... we are back to our normal 16-hour day. It is true that we are on the verge of a breakdown from writing up and counting Heatrola Free Coal sales, that we snap at bull dogs and growl at the cat, but Hallelujah! The battle with Old Man Winter is practically won and many Pickaway County homes this winter will enjoy the comfort that only Heatrola can give.

Speaking of Old Man Winter, he dropped in the store this morning quite upset. "I don't want to cast any aspersions," he said, "but it looks to me rather like a conspiracy. This Free Coal stuff! Giving it away so as to spoil all my chances freezing out some of the folks in this town. A dirty piece of work I call it. The least you can do is to give me the names of the folks who bought Heatrolas. There's no use wasting my time with them."

We agreed that there was a slight tendency toward a conspiracy. It was lamentable of course, but there we shrugged our broad manly shoulders what was one to do? Comfort during cold weather is a quaint old maxim of ours and the best way to secure it is to install a Heatrola in the home. To do less would be treason.

And we are anxious to install one in your home. If you didn't take advantage of the Free Coal offer, the Heatrola needs no special offer to make it an outstanding value. You can still assure yourself of a warm heated home this winter. Liberal terms. Come in and see us about it.

Here is the last member of the Free Coal Club. Mrs. William Bennett near Atlanta, who came in as the last horn was blowing. A total of 26 in all, and we'll lay odds there won't be a single regret.

Judge Brown: "The best thing you can do is to go home and make it up with your wife."

Husband: "And what's the second best thing?"

Lots of folks are like a merry-go-round. They travel fast but never get anywhere.

And now that we've mentioned home, fireside, and cold weather—the very thought of heating comfort reminds us of... where have we heard that word before?... Heatrola. Although the Free Coal Campaign is gone but not forgotten, you may still purchase your Heatrola for a small down-payment and the balance in easy monthly installments.

We were reading Shakespeare the other night and came across that phrase about sleep knitting up the ravelled sleeve of care. Well that may be all right, but our idea of a good night's rest is on one of the famous Ladyfairs Mattresses filled with small coil springs and finest felting with a high grade beautiful ticking. This is a real bargain for only $28.00.

HOMEY HANDY'S HINT

The placing of electric lights in a dairy barn should depend upon whether the cows are facing in or out. If two rows of cows face a feed aisle, put a row of reflector lamps on each side in back of the cows. If cows face out, put the lights in the center and closer together. One 40-watt lamp every twelve feet should be sufficient.

BIG CONTEST IS ANNOUNCED

Food Preservation Council Offers $25,000 For Prize Winning Essays.

People in Circleville who think they are ready to go broke can abandon the idea because here's a way to scoop up a little money. The National Food Preservation Council are conducting a nationwide contest. This contest is the $25,000 competition for an essay written on the subject "Why 50 Degrees Is the Danger Point."

The contest is open to any resident of the U. S. except persons who are associated with the refrigeration industry. The essays must not be longer than 400 words, written in English. The subject of each essay must be the value and benefit of food preservation, either from the standpoint of health, sanitation or economic saving, or any combination of these three.

Booklets summarizing information on this subject may be obtained from George Rogers, exclusive Frigidaire dealer in Circleville or from the National Food Preservation Council, 420 Lexington Ave., New York City. Essays will be judged 90 per cent on the originality of thought and evidence of study displayed, and 10 per cent on the clearness of expression, neatness and order of construction. The essays will not be returned. The contest closes at midnight Sept. 30, 1929. The national awards will be decided Dec. 6. The names of the winners will be announced in a national way.

The first prize is a Model Home; or $10,000 in gold; second prize, 1930 5-passenger Cadillac coupe, or $3,500 in gold; third prize, $2,000 in gold; fourth prize, $1,000 in gold; fifth prize, $500 in gold; sixth prize, $400 in gold; seventh prize, $350 in gold; eighth prize, $300; ninth prize, $250; tenth prize $200; twenty-five prizes, Nos. 11 to 35 inclusive, $100 in gold. Eight hundred prizes, Nos. 36 to 335 inclusive, $5 each in gold.

It is well worth any one's time to sit down and write a story about this, and win real money. If any one in Circleville wishes to compete in this contest, see George Rogers at Moffitt's Electric shop for information about this big idea contest.

To Strengthen Eyes

Eye exercise to strengthen the muscles are advised by certain physicians, and these should be done before breakfast. Keep the head still and roll the eyes upwards as far as possible, then right down wards, with a steady and unjerky motion. Continue rolling the eyes right, then left. Now lift them upwards and outwards, then up wards and outwards; and finally downwards and inwards, and down wards and outwards. Do this five times at first and gradually increase to twelve a day.

Will Tell All

Anthony Di Paola, of New York, has decided to tell the Grand Jury everything he knows about the crash of the City Trust Company. Di Paola had been sought for the past six weeks but finally decided to give himself up and turn "state's evidence."

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gheen, of Mingo-st, announce the birth of a daughter on Saturday, Sept. 7.

Slow Medical Advance

It was 1,300 years between the discovery by a Roman physician that the arteries contain blood and the discovery by an English physician of how the blood circulates.

POSTLUDE

It's all over . . . we are back to our normal 16-hour day. It is true that we are on the verge of a breakdown from writing up and counting Heatrola Free Coal sales, that we snap at bull dogs and growl at the cat, but Hallelujah! The battle with Old Man Winter is practically won, and many Pickaway County homes this winter will enjoy the comfort that only Heatrola can give.

Speaking of Old Man Winter, he dropped in the store this morning, quite upset. "I don't want to cast any aspersions," he said, "but it looks to me rather like a conspiracy. This Free Coal stuff! Giving it away so as to spoil all my chances freezing out some of the folks in this town. A dirty piece of work I call it. . . . The least you can do is to give me the names of the folks who bought Heatrolas. There's no use wasting my time with them."

We agreed that there was a slight tendency toward a conspiracy. It was lamentable of course, but (here we shrugged our broad, manly shoulders, what was one to do? Comfort during cold weather is a quaint old maxim of ours, and the best way to secure it is to install a Heatrola in the home. To do less would be treason.

And we are anxious to install one in your home, even if you didn't take advantage of the Free Coal offer. The Heatrola needs no special offer to make it an outstanding value. You can still assure yourself of a cozy-heated home this winter. Liberal terms. Come in and see us about it.

Here is the last member of the Free Coal Club:

Mrs. William Bennett, near Atlanta, who came in as the last horn was blowing. A total of 26 in all, and we'll lay odds there won't be a single regret.

Judge Brown: "The best thing you can do is to go home and make it up with your wife."

Husband: "And what's the second best thing?"

Lots of folks are like a merry-go-round. They travel fast but never get anywhere.

And now that we've mentioned home, fireside, and cold weather—the very thought of heating comfort reminds us of . . . where have we heard that word before? . . . Heatrola. Although the Free Coal Campaign is gone but not forgotten, you may still purchase your Heatrola for a small down-payment and the balance in easy monthly installments.

We were reading Shakespeare the other night and came across that phrase about sleep knitting up the ravelled sleeve of care. Well, that may be all right, but our idea of a good night's rest is on one of the famous Ladyfair Mattresses, filled with small coil springs and finest felting with a high grade beautiful ticking. This is a real bargain for only $38.00.

HOMER HANDY'S HINT

The placing of electric lights in a dairy barn should depend upon whether the cows are facing in or out. If two rows of cows face a feed aisle, put a row of reflector lamps on each side in back of the cows. If cows face out, put the lights in the center and closer together. One 40-watt lamp every twelve feet should be sufficient.

Frigidaire

with the "Cold Control"

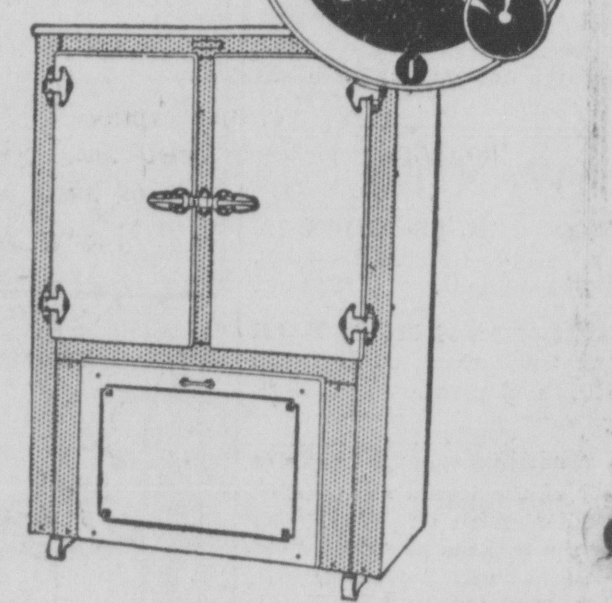

freezes desserts better..
makes ice quicker..keeps foods fresher . . . longer

THE Frigidaire "Cold Control" has introduced a new standard in electric refrigeration. It is as important as a gas regulator on an oven. This simple, patented device controls Frigidaire's surplus power. It gives you six freezing speeds at the turn of a handy lever . . . faster freezing of ice, and perfect results in the making of frozen salads and desserts that require extreme cold. And every household Frigidaire is now equipped with the "Cold Control" . . . without added cost to the buyer.

Look inside one of these Frigidaires of today. Note how convenient is the height of the shelves . . . how smooth and lustrous is the Porcelain-on-steel interior . . . how easy to clean, inside and out. The mechanism is completely concealed . . . away from dust and dirt, and incredibly quiet.

Then consider these important factors. Frigidaire's special insulation . . . moisture proof, heat resisting, enduring. The sturdy steel construction . . . the precision workmanship . . . the rigid inspection of the finished job. And finally, the great General Motors organization that has made all this possible . . . at prices based upon enormous production.

Let us tell you more about Frigidaire and the easy monthly terms. See a complete demonstration. Call at our show room . . . today.

Let us help you win in big $25,000.00 contest
